Mr. and Mrs. Are Leaving . . .

YOU KNOW WE MEAN
HUGHIE AND HIS GOOD WIFE

A social hour was held in the basement of Knox United Church last Sunday evening to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Roberts, who are leaving the district shortly.

During the evening a purse was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Roberts who both expressed their appreciation.

Mrs. B. Johnson presented Mrs. Roberts with a gift from the Evening Group of the W.A.

Very best wishes are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Roberts as they leave our midst. Didsbury and district has been their home for 31 years and they will be missed.

Westcott News

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Word has been received here that Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Tucker of Calgary (Jean Dageforde) on Wednesday last became the proud parents of a daughter. Also that Dr. and Mrs. Jacques Dumouchel (Deloye Goejen) of Athabasca, are the proud parents of a baby girl, born June 11, and the wee girlie is being named Jacqueline.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Goejen spent Sunday at Red Deer with their daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Ken Card. On Sunday afternoon they all went out to Oull Lake and were very impressed with the nice beach there. For folks interested in swimming and water sports it's a good spot to head for.

We were indeed pleased to see one of Westcott's young ladies, Miss Dorothy McDonald's picture in our local paper recently along with her graduating class and the store was the valedictorian. Congratulations Dorothy!

We were indeed surprised last week to find after some persistent ringing as our local line trying to get the ring and number had been changed. Mr. and Mrs. Whyte have the store number 8009 and the store number is 8011 now. My what a treat after a week we can again get the operator in Didsbury on the telephone line. Feels like we're back in civilization.

Mrs. Ethel Fluhrer and daughter of Astoria, Oregon, who are visiting relatives here, spent Monday evening at the Otto Folkmann home. J. Tittsworth, Mrs. Fluhrer's father, was also along with the party that were renewing old acquaintances.

Golf Notes . . .

The mixed two-ball foursome planned for Father's Day was postponed from June 17 to June 24. The original draw will still stand and additional entries will be welcomed. Members wishing to play in this competition, or those drawn and unable to play are asked to notify Mrs. K. Shannon, phone 332 or Mrs. J. Currie, 145, before Friday night.

Players may arrange their own teams and games may be played on Saturday if that is more convenient. Score cards should be given to the draw committee.

Ladies are to take alternate drives. Thursday, June 14 saw ten ladies out, in spite of chilly winds. The surprise hole was won by Mrs. J. Shannon. Following the games, tea was served at the home of Mrs. S. Devine.

Next week do your best, on the even holes, because low score on these will be the winner.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to sincerely thank this means of approach to kindly thank my wife and daughter for the very fine No. 9 golf club I received on Father's Day.

We can't best thank the persons who thought my family would forget me. The presentation made by them, which consisted of an 8-foot wrought iron, won't fit in my club bag. However it's on display at the golf course — all you need is the rental fee.

Balloons On The Move . . .

They went "that-a-way." That's just what happened to the flock of balloons George Law donated to the students' body, who were looking for something to decorate the hall with for the graduation dance.

There were only a thousand of the rubberized balls in the air at the school that fine evening.

From there they took out in every direction — the Lions hall caught them for the I.O.D.E. deal. Owen Clarke had a peak at them when a shower was held in her favor at the United Church, the ladies who were in attendance at the Saturday strawberry tea were careful when they reached with a fork; yes, the balloons were there.

The last report we have on the elusive rascals they left for the country.

YOU THINK YOU'VE GOT TROUBLES . . .

Two old college mates met after several years. One said glumly, "I've a tough row to hoe, Jim. My wife's always trying to keep up with the Joneses."
"You're lucky," snapped the other. "Mine's trying to keep up with the Rockefeller's."

Young Lad Causes Alarm . . .

He's Still Breathing; No Harm Done

There's a wee lad around town today who doesn't realize just how many friends he has. Darryl Dageforde, who has reached the tender five-year age, decided to stay out a bit late Tuesday evening. It hasn't been confirmed but we understand no such excitement and concentrated effort has been in evidence in these parts for more moons than most people can remember.

The siren gave the signal, most people thought there was a fire brewing — it wasn't so — it was a lost boy that caused the alarm. A second signal from the tower put everyone on the alert and the area in which the lad was last seen was thoroughly gone over by volunteer searchers. It's hard to believe there are as many in Didsbury as showed up for this affair. They were all there when their presence was needed.

The story has a happy ending — Darryl was found about a block from home, quite unconcerned about the disturbance he had caused.

Everyone in on the search breathed deeply — the little rascal slept in his own bed.

THIS ONE YOU HAVE TO SEE

Somebody, we don't know who, came up with a prize marble while doing in the Witzke gravel pit, east of town last week. It's so close to being a perfect bowling ball it's painful; roll it along the floor and it takes a fairly true trail, and it only weighs 11 pounds.

Can't describe it any better — come into the Pioneer Office and see it for yourself.

I.O.D.E. Holds Annual Massacre

"GORGEOUS GEORGE WAS THERE"

All the hilarity, music and laughter issuing from the Lions hall last Thursday evening, was occasioned by the June party thrown each year by the Lions Chapter, I.O.D.E.

The hall was gaily decorated with clusters of balloons and Didsbury palms, courtesy of Tugger's rhubarb patch.

It was a fancy dress affair and every race, class and even a few phonies got in on the deal. There was a serious side to it when judging of costumes arrived on the program.

The prize for the most original costume was won by Mrs. Asquith, a Hindu princess. Mrs. Maurice Shannon won the dollar costume award as she pilled out in her Chinese mandarin get-up.

Gorgeous George was on the program and at last reports it is understood that the "gorgeous one" still holds the world title.

After a short business meeting the entertainment committee took over. There were readings, in a humorous vein, selections by the "Clash and Clatter Band," under the baton of Master (Mrs.) Evans; a sing-song and a balloon relay race, the winner of which hasn't been declared yet.

Musta' been a fine evening! Shoulda' had some pictures of that one.

WESTERDALE NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

The June meeting of the Willows Workers was held last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. P. Schraeder with 19 members present.

Roll call was answered with "naming their favorite author." The treasurer reported that silverware and small plates had been purchased for the hall kitchen. It was reported that plywood had been purchased and used to construct doors for the hall cupboard and a strip of linoleum was ordered for the hall table.

In place of the usual paper, each member was asked to write an essay about one of the members and read it. However only six members participated.

Mrs. J. E. Bolton won the hostess prize.

Mrs. and Mr. L. Wall of Lethbridge spent an overnight visit with Mr. and Mrs. R. Jackson last Wednesday. Sunday's ball game with Rosebud failed to materialize due to a deluge of rain just prior to game time.

| Preachers . . .      | Should preach only one sermon or so a year. People are against sin anyway, so why harp on it.   |

LIGHT YOUR WAY WITH BIBLE STUDY

We are living today in a day of appointments. The average business man can look at his calendar and tell you just where he will be a week from Thursday. Unfortunately, most people lose sight of the most important appointment in all of life. The Bible remind us: "It is appointed unto men once to die — but after this the judgement."

This is an appointment none of us will be able to evade or even to postpone. One of Christ's apostles put it this way: "We must all appear before the judgement seat of Christ."

Are you prepared for that appointment? That is the big question we all must face. No man is ready to meet his Maker who has not placed his faith in the Redeemer for forgiveness of his sins.

St. Paul says: "I am ready" because he had made his peace with God through Christ. That is the position and the confidence we all ought to have. And we have it, for Christ says: "I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

Canada's Growth Causes First Complete 5-Year Census

This year Canada takes a significant step forward in the development of population and agriculture statistics. On June 1 the Dominion Bureau of Statistics commenced the country's first five-year census on a nation-wide scale. Dominion Statistician Herbert Marshall reports that a task force of about 10 thousand census-takers canvassed the country to find out the effect of developments in the last five years on the distribution of the population.

Canada is now growing so rapidly and changing so much that a five-year census is necessary to provide accurate figures for intelligent forecasting and planning. In the past the Bureau has taken a national count only once every ten years — the last in June, 1951. In other years it has published June 1st population estimates for Canada and the provinces, calculated by adding births and immigration and subtracting deaths and an estimate of emigration. The national estimates are reasonably accurate, although the margin of error increases with each year. The provincial estimates are another matter. Between censuses the measurement of the movement of people between provinces is difficult, and in the last few years, in particular, these shifts have been pronounced.

The distribution of the people within the country is a matter of paramount importance to government and industry, for development plans and the expenditure of huge sums of money are based on these figures. For capita grants, for example, have been the basis of the Dominion-Provincial tax agreements. Then too, some provincial governments provide assistance to municipalities on a per capita basis. One of the most important changes in the last five years has been the rapid build up of suburban developments, which has meant an expansion of metropolitan areas. This has created heavy demands for services such as roads, schools, waterworks and fire protection.

This year's census, however, will cover only population and agriculture. It will not delve into employment and earnings, population characteristics such as birthplace and education, housing and household facilities, merchandising and services, nor fisheries. Indeed most Canadians will be asked to state only their sex, age, marital status and relationship to the head of the household. Besides these, farmers will be asked a limited number of questions concerning agricultural activities.

Importance of Farm Figures

It has been apparent that complete data on agriculture were needed more frequently than once a decade. The most important of Canada's primary industries, agriculture has a total net value of production exceeding that of forestry, fisheries, trapping, mining and electric power combined. Because agricultural output has such far-reaching implications for the welfare of the Canadian economy, annual and even more frequent statistics in considerable

HOW MANY WEEDS: There are far more than people realize. Let's look at some figures. Weed content of grain fields in Manitoba, spring of 1955, when grain was in proper stage for treatment. Average number of broad leaved weeds per square yard on summer fallow were 274. Barley on second crop the weed count was 382 per square yard. You say that is terrible. I would never tolerate that kind of weed population without doing something about it.

Take a good long look at your own fields. It will likely surprise you how many weeds you do have. Last year in this district many farmers had so many noxious weeds in their feed grain that they had to clean it before they could feed it to their livestock. An expenditure of about 50 cents per acre for weed chemical would have eliminated those weeds and at the same time given a yield increase per acre of grain.

Some farmers told me that they couldn't afford to spend the few cents per acre to control the weeds with spray. I say that they couldn't afford not to spray. As it turned out, they paid for the cost of spraying many times over and had nothing to show for it except a lot of weeds. Right now, since the recent showers is an ideal time to spray your weedy fields. Remove those weeds so that they will not sap the moisture so vital to your crop. In a year of limited moisture it is even more important to kill out the weeds thus conserving what moisture there is for the crop.

Get it at soon, while weeds are small and easy to kill it will take less chemical and cost less per acre, and ultimately boost your yield.

EASY GOING

A rich man lying on his death bed called his chauffeur who had been in his service for years and said, "Well, sykes, I'm going on a long rugged journey worse than you ever drove me."

"Well, sir," consoled the chauffeur, "there's one comfort. It'll all be downhill."

variety have to be available to assist in market analysis, forecasting and production planning, and formulating government policy in relation to such matters as price supports. Many of the most important statistical series are in the nature of annual estimates tied into the preceding census. The census provides benchmarks which are reduced or increased for various crops and livestock counts each year according to the indications shown by annual sample surveys.

With an interval of ten years between censuses, the estimates tend to get out of line. The series of estimates will be more accurate and more useful when they are based on a census every five years, instead of letting differences accumulate for ten years. This is recognized in a number of countries which now take an agriculture census at least every five years and in some instances, annually. In addition, a five-year census provides information by small geographical areas twice as frequently as a decennial census. It is not practical to secure data by small areas through sample surveys.

First For The Nation

While the coming Census will be a "first" for the nation, it will not be new for the prairie provinces. Five-year censuses have been taken there for more than half a century and were started to keep track of the many changes wrought by the rapid settlement and development of the area. The value of the five-year census has been borne out in the West, particularly in times of rapid growth and distribution change such as many other provinces are now experiencing.

The Bureau's recommendation for a 1956 Census was made in response to repeated requests from provincial and municipal governments and non-government organizations with varied interests all of whom need accurate figures to assist in keeping their operations on a sound footing. An important consideration to all users is timeliness of the information. Because of the nature of the coming national stocktaking and the introduction of further improvements in collection and compilation methods, the Bureau expects to have many population counts ready for publication before Christmas, complete population counts early next year, and all of the detailed agriculture compilations by March next year.

Trade-In Your Old House

In the United States people can now trade in their old houses on a new home, just like they do with cars. But under Canadian legislation, that sort of thing is not possible yet in Canada.

The U.S. trade-in plan works this way:

Mr. Smith, living in an old home, wants to buy a new one in another part of town. He contacts a builder and buys the new house, turning over his old home to the builder as a trade-in down payment.

So far as Mr. Smith is concerned, the deal is over and he moves into his new house. The builder, meanwhile, if he cannot get rid of the house immediately, is now able to go to a mortgage lender and get a mortgage loan insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

Ramblin' and Roamin'

We've been hearin' that . . . the crops that were in early are coming along just fine. However the seeds that were thrown a little late are having trouble getting their heads through the ground. It's raining now — let's have a look at the late comers. Authoritative sources inform us we have a bumper crop every leap year — let's have some leaping from below, not above.

We've been hearin' that . . . colored TV is on the way. Let's not go too fast please — we haven't got really used to the black and white style yet!

We've been hearin' that . . . the Royal Commission that was set up to investigate alleged "off-the-base" manoeuvres by the provincial government have come forth with its findings. Since the report was made public the two Calgary daily newspapers have been chewing at each other's ears, strictly a pro and con affair. The decision has been made — let's wait until the next election rolls around to curl our hair in whatever fashion is in vogue.

We've been hearin' that . . . it is now one year plus 30 days since the minister of highways for our oil-rich province tendered a letter to local sources with the assurance that surfacing of the road from the main highways into towns being by-passed was on the books. They musta' lost the book that had Didsbury listed!

We've been hearin' that . . . real prosperity has been defined as 1912 taxes, 1928 dividends, 1932 prices, 1956 wages. Sounds good but who wants to live the easy way?

We've been hearin' that . . . a correspondent for a London paper, which doesn't suffer from lack of circulation, has come up with the old theory that the Queen should spend a couple of months each year in Canada. This we can't go along with — her duties are strenuous enough as things stand, she has a schedule now which calls for more than most people are willing, or able, to give. Don't you think she should spend a spot of time with her own family, away from the spotlight? There would be little chance of this if she were commuting between the Commonwealth countries.

We've been hearin' that . . . women can keep a secret just as well as men, but it takes more of them to do it!

Church's Political Venture Termined 'A Monstrous Thing'

TORONTO — Despite protests of Calgary's Dr. P. S. Morley, the Presbyterian Church has approved a resolution calling for more government aid to old age pensioners.

Heated verbal exchanges over the 22nd general assembly said the church's venturing into politics is "a monstrous thing which goes against all the traditions of the church."

Dr. Morley added, "It seems to be a very doubtful thing that the best way of helping the aged is by a pension alone. Here is a church sliding out of its responsibilities by saying to the government 'take care of these people.'"

At an earlier session the minister of Calgary's Grace Presbyterian Church had flayed the CBC, charging it had "little interest in religious broadcasting."

But, he added, the private stations are not much better and "we have to be careful the church is not pushed out of the broadcasting field altogether by a policy of 'don't care.'"

FARM SAFETY DIRECTOR APPOINTED BY ALBERTA COUNCIL

It is pleasing to note that the Alberta Safety Council has appointed W. Perkins as Farm Safety Director.

Farm accidents are taking a tragic and steadily increasing toll each year. A full-time safety officer can do much to impress upon farm people the dangers of their occupation and the necessity of exercising care when handling farm machinery.

We sincerely hope that this move will eventually result in fewer farm accidents.

THIS MODERN AGE

The first-grader came home from school one day and announced excitedly, "They've got a magic record player at our school!"

"A magic record player?" asked his mother, puzzled.

"Yes," explained the boy. "You don't have to plug it into electricity. You don't even need electricity to make it play. All you do is wind up a crank!"

Four V.C. Winners Receive Grants

The four Victoria Cross winners from this province who will be attending the centenary celebrations to be held in London on June 26, have received grants of $200 each from the Government of Alberta. These grants, which are in addition to federal transportation assistance, provide for personal expenses which may be incurred by the V.C. holders while travelling to London.

The Alberta V.C. winners who will be attending the function are Brigadier F. M. Harvey, Calgary; Pvt. C. J. Kinross, Loughheed; Sgt.-Major R. L. Zenzal, Rocky Mountain House; and Sgt. A. Breerton, Elnora. The 100th Anniversary of the presentation of the first Victoria Cross by Queen Victoria on June 26, 1856, will begin with a service in Westminster Abbey on June 25. On the following day the Queen will review the Commonwealth V.C. holders in Hyde Park. Following the ceremony, a garden party attended by the Queen Mother Elizabeth, will be held at Marlborough House.

AIN'T IT SO?

The woman boarded the street car with six children. She busied herself seating them. A benevolent old gent arose and gave her his seat. "Are those all your children, ma'am," he asked, "or is this a picnic?"

"They're all mine," she grimly replied, "and believe me this is no picnic."

HEALTH INSURANCE — KNOW WHAT IT COSTS?

Politicians who are prompt to put a price tag on health insurance would be wise to take a good hard look at experience in the U.K. where the cost of state medicine has soared to such heights as to make original estimates look puny.

Evidence that health insurance ranks high among budgetary outlays properly described by Finance Minister Harris as "uncontrollable" is found in U.K.'s health cost estimate for fiscal year 1955-56 of 462 million pounds. Supplementaries raised total for year to 478 million pounds, and estimates for health insurance for 1956-57, to which supplementaries will later be added, comes to 501 million pounds.

The Many-Splendored Thing...

Splendor is everywhere in Oldsmobile.

There's the splendor of distinctive Starfire styling—fresh, dignified, but so alive. There's the splendor of rich, custom-tailored interiors—luxurious, gracious and so comfortable. And there's the splendor of mighty power, tamed to go quietly about its task of producing swift, smooth motion.

And this Oldsmobile splendor is not a sometime thing. From the moment you proudly take possession until that distant day when you decide to trade it in on an even more exciting Olds of the future, you'll keep discovering new splendors in this unusual car. And you'll keep reflecting all the while how wise you were in 1956 to step up from the ordinary into an Oldsmobile.

More Coffee?

Brazil has been testing portable aluminum irrigation systems to increase the coffee crop. Results are startling: yield per tree is more than doubled. Even if ap-

Our own Canadian farmers

"A MORAL HOLIDAY"

"Do you want employment?"
"Lady," said the man at the door.
"You mean well, but you can't make work sound any more inviting to me
by using a word of three syllables."
My old dictionary reads "Holiday" — exemption from work. The old rhyme runs thus: "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, while all play and no work makes Jack a toy."

Mr. Brown ran a sanatorium. It was a place where people with plenty of money went to do nothing. They had been used to doing nothing;
that is why they went to the sanatorium. One day one of these people in this sanatorium began working.
She began sewing for the poor and needy. In a short time they all began working for the poor and needy.
Their interest grew and they worked hard, so hard they forgot all about their need for the sanatorium, and left it. Work can be health building.
Another line in my old dictionary reads, "Holiday — a time for recreation." Should we not make it recreation.

Since a holiday is a time exempt from the necessity of toil; a moral holiday is a time exempt from the necessity of keeping moral standards.
Should we keep such holidays? Yet far too often any and every holiday means just that for too many people.
The Lord's Day is no exception, when thought of only as a time exempt from the common round and daily task. Surely The Lord's Day can be something better than a moral holiday. Moral holidays are always costly in the extreme. In the long run they make everyone wish that they had never been taken. History is crammed with the wrecks and tragedies of life, none of which had their birth in the workaday efforts, but in what we lightly speak of as "time off."

What can we do about it? Or as one man asked "What do you do when you cannot do anything?"

The Disciples can be a guide to us
in such times.
The Disciples stood looking on when their master was being crucified. "They stood there watching."
They were inactive yet doing much.
They refused to say that wrong was right. That is something we can all do, and it is always worth doing.
It is also the true test of real worth.
The Disciples did not say, "Well,
this proves Pilate right and Jesus wrong." No matter how strong or popular wrong may be, it can never be right, and we can always refuse to call wrong right.

The Disciples held to their faith, namely that God was more powerful than Rome. God is still more powerful than all other powers regardless of what or whom those powers spring. The evidence was all against the Disciples, but that evidence was wrong. It so often is wrong. The best things in life, and our most valuable treasures, are not the gifts of majorities. Had the faithful few failed to believe in the power and love of God, and in His truth and righteousness, against seeming evidence to the contrary, the best of all our experiences could never be.
In the third place this little band of followers, so pitifully small in numbers, stood together. In doing so they laid the foundation for a world wide group of believers, who would be continually striving against the multitudes who without this opposition would have destroyed our faith and moral standards.

May our holidays, or our time off be used for what they are given for.
That we may be refreshed and made stronger for the work we must come back to. Work is never servile except when it is sinful.

"True worth is in being, not seeming;
In doing each day that goes by
Some little good — not in dreaming
Of great things to do by and by.
For what ever man say in their blindness,
And spite of the fancies of youth, There's nothing so kindly as kindness,
And nothing so royal as truth."

SLUGGING BATTLE

Canadian retailers are slugging it out in one of the roughest, toughest competitive years since the lean 30's, says Donald R. Gordon.

Keen — often cut-throat — competition in foods, appliances, automobiles, hardware, furniture and filling station supplies is forcing smaller markups, lower profits and a rising tide of consolidations.

The weapons are familiar: Trading stamps of various kinds, premiums, "special offers," indirect price cuts and give-aways. Only a few firms are using straight price reductions to boost sales, most are arming themselves with assorted premium schemes aimed at building store traffic and long-term store or brand loyalty.

It's a snowballing deal. Dozen of merchants and manufacturers queried said they have been forced by competition to sign up for premium and give-away schemes, many more indicate they expect they will have to in the near future.

Procedure Out
The Door?

Recent events in the House of Commons serve as a grim reminder that parliamentary democracy is a tender plant, whose survival is contingent upon the depth of democratic tradition of the Canadian people and their elected representatives.

Parliamentary democracy rests on constitutional conventions of conduct, on precedent and tradition and upon the rules of parliamentary procedure. The events of the last fortnight cannot fail to cause thoughtful Canadians to ponder whether the roots of democracy in this country are deeply rooted in the minds of the men who compose Parliament, or whether in fact there are not those in Parliament who would put party before Parliament itself.

Does parliament democracy really exist when the Prime Minister of Canada remains silent in his seat in the House of Commons while bedlam reigns?

Can Parliament serve as a vehicle for carrying on the nation's public business when Mr. Speaker does nothing to silence the ugly din of a Government majority which, when of privilege, chants "Hail, hail, the king's all here what the hell do we care now?" What manner of men are the Liberal MP's who bordered on blasphemy by singing "Onward Christian Soldiers" merely to drown
the voices of Opposition members and to make a mockery of parliamentary democracy.

The tragic figure in the recent tempest in parliament is Mr. Speaker himself, for upon him rests the prime responsibility for upholding the traditions and conventions of the House of Commons and for seeing that the rules and precedents of procedure are not violated.

The righteous indignation of the Conservative and CCF Opposition members is understandable. Yet the scene in the Commons on "Black Friday," when CCF leader Coldwell, standing before the mace which is the symbol of authority in Parliament, shook his fist at Mr. Speaker, while other Opposition members, Conservative and CCF alike, yelled about the centre aisle of the Commons, cannot be lightly condoned.

Parliamentary democracy in Canada has been deeply wounded by such events as these. It might be said that Parliament has ceased to function in the manner essential to preserving democratic traditions. That does not mean, however, that Democracy in Canada is dead.
Sooner or later the events of the last few days must be judged by leaders of public opinion and by the press, and the judgement rendered in the editorial columns of leading newspapers, large and small, regardless of party allegiance, has not been flattering to the Government or to the Liberal party.

As the Winnipeg Free Press puts it, "Our parliamentary system of government is more important than a pipeline. And the Government is now doing violence to the real fundamentals of that system."

MODERN MECHANIZATION SOLVES
FARM LABOUR PROBLEMS

With more and more ease of handling and work-capacity being engineered into modern machines, farmers are being relieved of much of the worry and expense incurred through the scarcity and high cost of experienced farm help. And there is such a wide range of sizes and styles of tractors and implements and tools that today every farmer can avail himself of the advantages of modern mechanization.

The wise and practical use of up-to-date machinery is a most important part of today's farm operations. In the 1966 Massey-Harris and Ferguson lines are tractors and implements engineered to promote the efficiency of farming — your local dealer will be glad to give you full particulars.

Notes From D.A.

By Howard J. Fuleher

Stilbestrol is a synthetic female sex hormone which can be used in fattening beef animals. It is a drug and like any other drug must be used carefully and correctly. It is used in fattening cattle at the level of 10 milligrams per animal per day. This indicates the care which must be exercised by feed manufacturers in preparing supplements with stilbestrol in them.

An experiment with the use of supplements fortified with stilbestrol was carried on by the University of Alberta. The following results were shown. Steers fed stilbestrol made faster gains and required 8% less feed per pound of gain. These facts cause the cost of 100 pounds gain to be 7% less on the cattle receiving the hormone drug at the correct level. Dressing percentage, shrink and grading did not vary so any marked decrease between those animals on regular feed and on those on trial stilbestrol feed.

There have been reports already of misuse of this new hormone feed. It must be treated as a drug. A bull fed this could quite likely become sterile, trouble also could develop where hoes are allowed to run in feed lots where stilbestrol is being fed.

Stilbestrol in feed is sold to aid in the fattening of beef animals intended for slaughter and weighing over 600 pounds. This is the only purpose it is for and not for any other reason should it be fed.

Instructions on the bag containing supplement fortified with this drug should be read and followed carefully.

They Ignore
A Vital Fact

No informed person will deny the urgent need of fast growing municipalities for more revenue. But no sane person, argues The Financial Post, will believe for one minute that municipal governments have any God-given right to the same percentage of the taxpayer's dollars as they received 20 years ago. Yet that fiction was suggested to an eastern Ontario meeting of Reeves and mayors.

The case was outlined this way: "Since 1939 the federal government has increased its share of the Canadian tax dollar to almost 75% while the municipal share has declined from 32% to 13%. Restore those proportions, take away a large chunk of the federal revenue and turn it over to the hardpressed municipalities and all would be fair and dandy."

There's one great big loophole in that sort of nonsense, the hot war of 1939-45 and the cold war that has followed. And wars, always terribly expensive and steadily getting more so, must be paid for by federal, not municipal governments.

Prior to 1939 defense expenditures by the federal government averaged less than $50 millions a year. Today they are 40 times as much. More than 35 cents out of every tax dollar collected by Ottawa last year went directly into military expenditures.

Revive The Dead

Medical men predict that in a few years trained crews of heart specialists will be rushing out to revive the "dead" in business, offices, golf courses, public vehicles and the like. In other words, the businessman who "dies" of a heart attack needn't stay dead. Specialists now can revive actually dead heart cases by oxygen, hand massage of the heart, electric shock.

LONE PINE ORIOLES
HOLD REGULAR MEETING

The Lone Pine Girls' Club May meeting was held at the home of Carol and Donna Cipperley.

Each member exchanged flower seeds for the roll call. Sheila Page joined as a new member. Final plans were made for achievement day. Mary Spragg was to receive a money gift from the girls. It was decided the girl club would join the W.I. in an old fashioned picnic. Diane Page won the 10 cent draw. Molly Lucas had the bit of fun; Beverly Thompson won for the seniors and Diane Page for the juniors. Following the meeting a short program was held for the mothers and each girl gave their mother a rose.

$50 Trip To Europe
Forecast For Future

The possibility of the average wage earner being able to take $50 trips to Europe on huge cafeteria-style ships has been envisioned by a New York hotel man.

H. B. Cantor, president of the Dixie Hotel, said he has plans to build two 90,000-ton ships, each capable of carrying 6,000 passengers. They would cost $100,000,000 each.

Each of his proposed ships would have a cafeteria with 1,500 seats, as well as automatic food dispensers.

The $50 fare would cover berth and transportation only. Cantor estimated meals would cost about $4 a day extra. He expressed confidence the ships could operate profitably in this fashion.

"There will be two swimming pools, a skating rink, two theatres, a concert hall and facilities for religious services, but no pleasant or caviar," said Cantor.

LOADED TOOTHBRUSH

Stick your toothbrush in your pocket or purse and you're all set. No need to bother with toothpaste tubes that squish or caps that get lost. New German brush with fine four-life nylon bristles has a hollow handle containing a four-week supply of mint-flavor liquid dentifrice. When the supply is exhausted, the screw-in handle is discarded and a refill inserted in a matter of seconds.

What comes next? Could be someone will dream up a gadget that will sell you cigarettes already for smoking. They'll puff, without lighting, as soon as they touch your lips. Now that's an idea!

OVER THERE

The travelling salesman, making a two-weeks' stay in a very small town, ate a few of his meals in his room. He bought a pound of limburger cheese and managed to eat most of it. When he was packing to leave early the next morning he found he still had a sizeable slab left. He did not want to leave it lying around the room.

After puzzling about how to dispose of it, he had a bright idea. He went over to the window where there was peats geranium. Carefully lifting the flower and soil he placed the cheese on the bottom of the flower pot and replaced the dirt.

A few days later he received a telegram directed to him in care of his company: "We give up. Where did you put it?"

(From Our Own Correspondent)

This past weekend President Taylor and family, accompanied by David Archer and Ormand Sherrick, held meetings on the Galahad Field. These two young men were on tour recently and now are accompanying Mr. Taylor for at least part of the summer as he speaks in the churches of the conference.

Mrs. Lydia Suder was guest speaker in the Cremona church on Sunday and while there showed slides of her trip in Palestine and the Near East. She will be visiting a number of the churches during the summer and people will be able to enjoy some of the interesting things she saw while away last summer.

Friends of the college will be astounded to know that the college has secured the services of a well qualified music director for the coming winter. He is Mr. Richard Carpenter of Mishawaka, Indiana, who has been on a quartet for the "Your Worship Hour" program, under the direction of Rev. Everest. He will also teach voice and has received high recommendation from prominent persons who know his work best.

It will also be of interest that the group visiting the Indiana conference recently met with Mr. Widmark and found that he is now able to get around somewhat. He has been an invalid for quite some time and is still suffering with his malady.

During the past week the school has been a busy place again as ministers and delegates of the conference met in assembly under the leadership of the general superintendent, Rev. Kenneth Geiger, as chairman and district superintendent, H. A. Traub as co-chairman. Rev. Traub was re-elected district superintendent for the next two years, and Rev. D. M. Taylor as vice-superintendent for the same period of time. We congratulate these two gentlemen on their fine leadership in both church and college.

The faculty of Mountain View Bible College is not only engaged in college work but hold church offices as well. Rev. Taylor is not only vice-district superintendent of the church but has accepted an adult Bible class in the Sunday school as teacher for the coming year. Mrs. Lydia Suder is again director of the W.M.B. of the conference; Mr. Waldin has been re-elected as radio director of the Good New Program; Miss Gladys Eby has been re-appointed as teacher of the Young People's class of the Sunday school. Mr. Taylor has also the continuous work of Sunday school editor for the entire church and Miss Eby is one of the regular contributors to the church publication, "The Gospel Banner." We so often hear people say, "Well, how are you enjoying your holidays," but for this staff, holidays are rather indefinite things in summer.

The proud mother walked into the furniture store clutching a small, easy monthly payment in her hand. She placed it on the counter happily.

"Here," she said proudly to the credit manager, "is the last and final installment on the baby carriage."

"That's fine," said the manager, "and how is the baby?"

"Oh," was the proud reply, "He's being discharged from the Air Force next week."

An Alaskan moose may weigh as much as 1,700 pounds.

CREMONA NEWS

(From Our Own Correspondent)

A very successful Cradle Roll tea was held in the United Church basement on June 12th. Twenty-nine of the 49 mothers were entertained by a program prepared and conducted by Mrs. M. Earle. The C.O. I.T. girls served the tea for the ladies. Mrs. Earle was assisted by the other Sunday school teachers, Mrs. M. McBain, Mrs. L. Bird, Mrs. A. Thompson, Mrs. C. Bird, Mrs. Mori and the C.O.I.T. leader, Mrs. Lane. Home and School was adjourned until September by a quorum of six last Wednesday evening, June 14th. Election of officers was left in Abeyance until the second Wednesday of September.

Cremona Stampede was held on June 14th and 15th despite the rain. It was sponsored by the Cubs and Scouts and the proceeds would have been more with a little more co-operation from "old man sunshine." Another old-timer of the Cremona district passed away Thursday night, June 14 in Didsbury hospital. Mr. Jackson was 84 and had lived in the Cremona district for more than 50 years. An early pioneer, Mr. Jackson helped many people over financial hurdles. Sympathy of the district is extended to the Jackson family.

The district as a whole was delighted June 8 when Donald Bird, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Bird, won the grand championship in the 4H calf sale in Carstairs. It was such an incentive that some of the Cremona boys started being grain the next morning for next year's session. Donald's calf was an Angus heifer.

THESE RULES MAY PREVENT DROWNING

Six rules which, if observed, may help to prevent drownings are:

1. Wait for at least two hours after meals before going in the water. Don't swim if you are particularly tired or overheated.
2. In diving, look before you leap. The bottom can appear farther away than it actually is.
3. Follow beach or pool regulations and obey lifeguards. Never swim alone. Children should be watched constantly.
4. Ocean swimming can be particularly treacherous. Waves and undertows are unpredictable and shouts for help are unlikely to be heard.
5. Leave marathon swimmers to the experts. Remember, it is at least as easy to get to the beach as it is away from it.
6. If your boat overturns, stick with it if you are far from shore. You can remain as long as the boat does.
